Commemoration.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 5 .- The old Log College celebration under the auspices of the Presbytery of Philadelphia, north, began to-day at the old Tennant farm near Hartsville, Bucks county, Pa., where the college was originally located. The farm is twenty miles from Philadelphia. The exercises of the day were really commemorative of the founding of the Presbyterian rative of the founding of the Presbyterian church in the United States. The Log college was established in 17 % by William Tennant and flourished until 1742, when Princeton college was founded. It may be said that Princeton sprang up from the primitive college established at Tennant. Tennant farm, and an immense crowd from the surrounding country and Philadelphia, including prominent Presbytarian divines from all over the country were present. A long programme had been arranged, divided into two parts. It opened with religious services. At 11:50 the president and Wanamaker entered the large tent and Wanamaker entered the large tent and were given the most enthusiastic welcome. They took seats on a raised platform. As soon as the party was seated the first paper of the day was read by Rev. D. K. Turner, of Hartsville, descriptive of the founding of the Log college and the useful career of its founder. He was followed by Rev. R. M. Patterson, of Philadelphia, editor of the Presbyterian, who delivered an address on the Log college evangalist. an address on the Log college evangalist.

in being here for every impulse of honest pride which stirs your hearts moves mine.
I am glad to stand here at the source of a great government. I have seen the Mississippi river pouring out its enormous flood to the gulf, and I have had the pleasure of standing at the source of the great Missouri; but what is the force and energy implied by these rushing streams, when compared with the movement inaugurated here.
[Applause I I am glad to be here to help celebrate one of those great impulses springing from a small beginning, and yet how far-reaching in its results and and effects. I don't want only to exait the Presbyterian church, and yet I think historians who have been untouched by partisanship testify that it has been magnificently pressed onward. Let us take no backward steps; let us continue to merit the favor of God and do his work until the world shall cease to move. Steadfastness

At the close of the president's address there was a scene of wild excitement, and for five minutes men and women cheered and waved handkerchiefs. After singing the hymn "Nearer My God to Thee," the services closed. The president and party were escorted to a tent where a bountiful lunch was spread.
